Chatham County Police Department Makes Arrest in Shots Fired Incident

Chatham County, GA (June 11, 2021)—The Chatham County Police Department has arrested a man after a shots fired incident on Wilmington Island Thursday night.

Chatham County Police Department officers responded to the Flying Fish in the 7900 block of East U.S. Hwy. 80 in reference to a shots fired call. When officers arrived, they were told that 40-year-old Tadarryeo Herron witnessed someone in a truck hit his car in the parking lot. A verbal argument ensued. Witnesses say as the truck was leaving the scene, Herron fired a gun and several vehicles were struck by the bullets. No one was injured.

Herron was arrested and charged with criminal damage to property and reckless conduct.
