Floodplain Management Plan Kickoff Meeting

Chatham County, GA (November 17, 2023) - Chatham County is preparing a Floodplain Management Plan update and wants the public's input in the planning process. A public kickoff meeting is scheduled for November 21st at 5:00 PM and will be held at the Mendonsa Hearing Room of the Chatham County-Savannah Metropolitan Planning Commission (112 East State St., Savannah, GA 31401).

What: Floodplain Management Plan Kickoff Meeting

When: November 21, 2023, at 5 PM

Where: Mendonsa Hearing Room of the Chatham County-Savannah Metropolitan Planning Commission (112 East State St., Savannah, GA 31401)

More details:

Public input will help the planning committee to identify flood risks, understand local vulnerabilities, and select appropriate and achievable mitigation strategies to protect the County and its residents from flood impacts.

The planning committee, which consists of County staff and local stakeholders, hopes that residents and stakeholders will provide additional input and information about local flood risk and to support the planning process.

Individuals who cannot attend the public meeting, but would like to provide feedback to the planning committee, can respond to the public survey here.

Comments, data, and other input for the planning committee to consider can also be sent to the County's planning consultant, David Stroud with WSP, at David.Stroud@wsp.com.
